An Invitation to meet in Malaysia

The Malaysian Radiation Protection Association (MARPA) cordially invites all the participants to join the 12th International Symposium on Naturally Occurring Radioactive Material (NORM-XII) 2028 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Malaysia is fully committed to bring this prestigious conference to the country for the very first time, and we aim to fulfill the objectives of the NORM, which are to promote a holistic approach and sustainable development by taking into account socio-economic, safety and environment, as well as creating a strong networking platform of interactions between the stakeholders in the region

MARPA has the backing of its members and the support of the Malaysian government to provide robust efforts and confidence, in hosting NORM-XII 2028 and bring delegates from across the region to Kuala Lumpur, with a touch of Malaysia Truly Asia.

About the local host - MARPA

Malaysian Radiation Protection Association (MARPA) is a non-governmental organization that was established on 15th September 2002.

It represents a pool of professionals of highest skill in radiation protection and safety. MARPA can be considered a national asset and a resource for experts and specialists in radiation protection and safety.

MARPA aims at advancing scientific and technical knowledge and skill in the field of radiation through education, research and the compilation and dissemination of information useful to members and beneficial to the general public.

The establishment of MARPA also is intended to establish linkages with other technical, safety and scientific organizations in the dissemination and exchange of information to enhance the promotion, advancement and recognition of radiation safety practices in Malaysia.

In 2006, MARPA has been accepted as the 46th member of the International Radiation Protection Association (IRPA) and 7th member of the Asian and Oceanic Association for Radiation Protection (AOARP)
